Certified Wedding Consultant Prepared for Busy Wedding Season

Charlotte, MI – 17 May 2010 –

WicksnCandlesticks.com owner and certified wedding consultant, Carla Guiles-Lowery, announced several updates to the Internet website and Michigan-based company in preparation of the coming wedding season. “We’ve made some exciting changes to the website, as well as the services we offer,” Ms. Guiles-Lowery said in this morning’s announcement. “I can say with confidence that we’re fully prepared for the needs of couples during the busiest wedding season of the year.”

WicksnCandlesticks.com, based in Charlotte, Michigan, has often been the Internet resource for candles and gift baskets for family, friends, clients or coworkers. As well, they provide wedding services, software, favors, and gift baskets for couples throughout Michigan and the United States to make their special day even better.

Planning for a wedding can be hectic and stressful during a time when bride and groom should be enjoying and looking forward to their wedding day. WicksnCandlesticks provides e-wedding planning services for online convenience, giving continual, unlimited email support up to the wedding day. Such services include discussions of the wedding plan, professional wedding advice, assistance with timelines, vendor referrals, bridal forms, and more to help the couple through the planning process.

“We’ve partnered with well-known companies in the wedding industry as exclusive dealers of wedding accessories, favors, and invitations,” Ms. Guiles-Lowery says. “As well, we’ve made several changes to the website for easy navigation and quick reference. Often, couples spend tons of time scanning sites for wedding information and we’ve set our wedding information, services, and products in a single area located on the left side of the page for easy reading.”

For brides and grooms on a budget, Ms. Guiles-Lowery opened The Budget-Minded Bride Blog, which offers tips, advice, and information on everything from wedding budgets to wedding trends. Finally, WicksnCandlesticks.com partners with iDo wedding software to help brides and grooms keep track of all the many vendors, products, events and expenses, among other things, that go into creating a fantastic wedding day.

“We’re especially pleased with the results of the work we’ve put in over the past few months and we know our clients will be, too,” says Ms. Guiles-Lowery. “We love what we do, and look forward to helping many happy brides and grooms fulfill their dreams for a beautiful wedding.” Ms. Guiles-Lowery and the entire WicksnCandlesticks team invites all those getting married, or thinking about getting married, to visit <http://wicksncandlesticks.com> for more information, access to exclusive wedding products and wedding software.
